FROM SAMUEL HOBBS

Welcome to the 3rd annual Union PDX - Festival of Contemporary Dance, Festival21! Waiting in the wings since we received our first set of applications from artists worldwide in Spring of 2020, this weekend is a dream come to fruition — to bring international and national dance artists into Portland to perform and teach alongside Portland artists. It is a gift to share the stage and classroom with these incredible people and choose a "new normal" that celebrates the deep roots of contemporary dance.

As many of us know, Art is more important now than ever. Art moves economies, revitalizes communities, teaches our children compassion, teamwork, and problem-solving. Art is responsible for technical and scientific advancements in robotics, mathematics, and medicine. It is responsible for transmuting violence into compassion and healing, and for creating new avenues of understanding. Art waters hope, builds resilience, and saves lives. Art is responsible for making the last 22 months bearable.

We have seen the last 22 months decimate the performing arts here in Portland. Moving forward, we must ensure that Art spearheads the cultural landscape of our city as we rebuild. The act of you sitting with us today is an act for our future together. Thank you so much for being so supportive over the last year and a half, and thank you for being here today. For the push/FOLD family and several other companies and artists, this weekend truly marks the return of live dance performance within Portland, and we are thrilled to return with you.

Enjoy the weekend of Union PDX - Festival:21.

ABOUT UNION PDX

Established in 2019, the Union PDX - Festival of Contemporary Dance is a multi-faceted program to present artists making contemporary work from any dance genre and tradition, diversify the influences on our city, and provide training opportunities and tangible resources to dance professionals.

Featuring masterclasses, artist-talks, and student and public performances, the Union PDX festival is a means to share our resources in an accessible festival format within Portland. By elevating artistic voices in prominent Portland venues and providing training, resources, and opportunities to dance professionals, we help strengthen and expand Portland’s dance ecosystem. We address the barriers to access and visibility many professional dance artists experience and address the stratification within Portland, which is grown around lines of privilege, education, and proximity to opportunity. We are absolutely thrilled to include two new professional development workshops for artists this year for Festival:21—grant writing and budgeting and project and leadership development.

Built to attract outside interest and resources necessary for a healthy local arts community, the Union PDX festival curates artists through a worldwide open application process through a panel of local dance professionals. In its second year (2020), we received applications from artists across the globe, representing various Street, African, Indian, Ballet, Butoh, and Contemporary movement. The reception demonstrated that artists are hungry for opportunities to perform in Portland.

The Union PDX festival aims to connect artists, audiences, presenters, administrators, and educators and grow our presentation, performances, and class offerings to strengthen Portland as a national hub in this union of dance.

ABOUT PUSH/FOLD

push/FOLD is the vision of Artistic Director Samuel Hobbs, founded in 2016 as a performance-focused arts organization. Performing regionally and internationally through festivals and self-produced events, push/FOLD’s body of work features original sound, set, and lighting design of Samuel’s own. Samuel’s unique movement vocabulary—Visceral Movement Theory™ (VMT)—provides the backbone of push/FOLD’s tensile movement and partnering and athletic dance performance.

With the vision of developing community power through arts education, support, and advocacy, push/FOLD’s programming includes masterclasses, workshops, presentations, student programming, evening-length dance productions, artist-talks, and the Union PDX - Festival of Contemporary Dance. As an arts advocate, push/FOLD works with local and regional companies, artists, administrators, and the City of Portland to identify and address the needs of our communities; and continues to steward emerging choreographers and young artists.

push/FOLD is a 501c3 tax-exempt non-profit arts organization based in Portland, Oregon.

PART I | PROGRAM

1. Impossible to Explain

In the midst of my tranquility, I enter into a space of peace that generates in me a perfect universe in which I want to be. From there I relate. I enter to understand myself, I come out to understand you and for you to understand me, questions appear—should I mutate, live, interweave to understand, to search, to fill, to find? Will I let myself be involved? Do you understand me? Am I clear?

Choreographer, Dancer:
Evelyn Tejeda

Music:
‘Phases’—Howling
‘Headphonics’—Ryoji Ikeda
‘Poder Del Perro’—Robot Koch
‘Don’t Break My Love’—Nicolas Jaar

2. A Fantasy of Going Home

‘A Fantasy of Going Home’ is a contemporary dance solo that is continuously evolving and reacting to the shifting present-day politics of Taiwan’s place in the world. The piece draws directly from choreographer/performer Tom Tsai’s upbringing as an advocate for Taiwan’s Independence. The choreography sources from Breakin’ aesthetics and Hip Hop battle mentality, and evokes the resilience and endurance necessary when faced with imminent defeat.

Choreographer, Dancer:
Tom Tsai

Sound Design:
Tom Tsai

3. Ghost Pipe

Monotropa uniflora (aka ‘Ghost Pipe’), considered a sacred plant associated with the spiritual process of death and rebirth, is a species of flora that lacks the necessary chlorophyll to produce energy from sunlight. Deriving its energy from decaying matter, the Ghost Pipe spends most of its time underground: It only emerges to bloom on a waxy delicate pale flesh, easily bruised when touched. Containing several medicinal properties, the Ghost Pipe is antinociceptive—reducing sensitivity to painful stimuli—allowing the patient to sit with the experience with a lesser degree of intensity.

This premiere work is both medicinal and spiritual.

Composer-Choreographer:
Samuel Hobbs

Dancer:
Holly Shaw
4. Bunker

‘Bunker’ is about how memory is experienced through the body and generations. This solo was influenced by archival research I did on the women who resided at the 92nd Y Residence and The Clara de Hirsch home for Working Girls from 1899-1950. My practice grew from this research, embodying and visualizing memories of these women, as well as my own, approaching time in a non-linear fashion, reflecting the parallels, struggles and shared history through generations.

This relentless solo plays with rigor and rhythm as a grounding force in a chaotic mind.

Choreographer, Dancer:
Rebecca Margolick

Music:
"All Melody" — Nils Frahm

5. Who We Carry

‘Who We Carry’ is a three part journey of ancestral roots in the Ring Shout traditions of the Gullah Geechee, Yoruba Orishas in the African Diaspora, and lands in the Pacific Northwest. Who We Carry transforms grief and loss during the COVID pandemic into an opportunity to reclaim our power. With labor, gratitude, love and power we become our intimate visions for the future.

Choreographer:
Oluyinka Akinjiola - in collaboration with the dancers -

Composer:
Michael Galen

Performers:
Oluyinka Akinjiola, Malik Delgado, Ogo Ezendokwere, Michael Galen, Donna Oefinger, Decimus Yarbrough

Vocalists:
Habiba Addo, Shalanda Sims

Costume Designer:
Jamie Minkus

Prop Design:
Bethany Harvey

SAMUEL HOBBS
push/FOLD
Artistic Director, Composer-Choreographer

Samuel Hobbs is a multi-disciplinary artist in Dance, Art, and Music known for their unique athletic movement, abstract storytelling, and evocative soundscapes, making their international choreographic debut this year in both Canada and Mexico.

Samuel has performed nationally and internationally Contemporary, Ballet, Street, and West African dance since 2005, teaching nationally and internationally dance and partnering since 2008. Samuel’s work centers themes of power and identity, utilizing their momentum-based dance technique Visceral Movement Theory™—a fusion of Samuel’s athletics and dance training with their education in Osteopathic manual therapy, rooted in the biomechanics of our organs.

Before dance, Samuel was a university track athlete studying Math and Computer Science at the University of Oregon and then Western Oregon University; graduating in 2007 with a Bachelor’s in Science in The Arts, studying Music, Illustration, Sculpture, Dance, and Computer Programming. Samuel’s performance career includes performances at two World Expositions, leading roles in Classical Ballet productions in Oregon, Washington, and Utah, and performances with Lauren Edson, Éowyn Barrett, Rainbow Dance Theatre, Minh Tran & Co., and BodyVox.

Outside of dance, Samuel works with the public as a Manual Therapist in their private practice in Portland, OR; and is the artistic director of push/FOLD and the Union PDX - Festival of Contemporary Dance.

TOM TSAI
Los Angeles, CA

Choreographer, Dancer

Tom Tsai is a dancer/choreographer based out of Los Angeles, creating work that stems from his Taiwanese and Hip Hop identities. Positioned between the distinct histories of Taiwan, American minorities, Hip Hop, and Western Concert Dance, Tom draws upon Breakin’ (breakdancing) and Lewitzky Modern dance techniques, Postmodern sensibilities, and his writing to represent his lineage and hone his innovative voice.

Tom performs nationally and internationally, and is a chief collaborator with Dancing Through Prison Walls, a project giving visibility to those impacted by the carceral system. Tom’s professional career boasts performances at the iconic venues of Judson Church, Sadler’s Wells, Theater Rotterdam Schouwburg, and Esplanade Theatres on the Bay; choreography for stage plays at MainStreet Theatre Company and Sierra Madre Playhouse; performances with choreographers Suchi Branfman, Laurie Cameron, Victoria Marks, and John Pennington; and video collaborations with Diavolo Architecture in Motion, Danza Floricanto, ARC Pasadena, Pennington Dance Group, and J Chen Project.

Tom is part of Section 7, a collective of multi-disciplined B-boy artists originating from Taipei, Taiwan. He has taught at Pomona College, Cal State Long Beach, Cal State Fullerton, and high schools across Southeast Asia.
